Builder: Jack Wilson

Company: Woodhaven Homes, Inc.

Location: Sherwood, AR

Founded: 1970

Overview

With more than three decades in the building industry, Jack Wilson of Woodhaven Homes is a leader in the residential building community in Central Arkansas. After founding Woodhaven homes in 1970, Jack has developed his company into one of the largest home builders in the state of Arkansas.

Jack's company utilizes the team approach to building homes, by bringing together several individuals who specialize in accounting, design, sales, and construction. At Woodhaven Homes, their continuing goal is to build top quality, energy efficient homes that are a great value to customers. In addition to home building, Jack is also extensively involved in several developments across the state of Arkansas, most notably being the Country Club of Arkansas development in Maumelle.

This veteran builder is actively involved in the local, state, and national Home Builders Associations. He is a Past President of the Greater Little Rock Home Builders Association, a Past President of the Arkansas Home Builders Association, and a Life Director for the National Association of Home Builders. Jack was also recognized by more than 200 of his peers as the 2005 Arkansas Home Builder of the Year, hosted by Building Arkansas Magazine. While being a supporter of the local and national building industry, Jack also makes it a priority to give back to the community by being an active supporter in several nonprofit organizations.
